PRESS RELEASE

NEW BOOK. The philosopher Søren Kierkegaard's thoughtful and captivating reflections on his writing

The author and philosopher Søren Kierkegaard's (1813-1855) first book about his authorship, "On my authorship", was published on 6 August 1851, while the later, "The point of view of my authorship", which contains "The individual, two 'notes' concerning my writing business," was published after his death, on May 3, 1859.

The book's texts have been textually changed to modern Danish by author and philosopher, mag.art. Jens Staubrand, who has also selected the images and written the detailed information that the captions contain.

It is the publisher's hope that this modern, thoroughly edited collection of texts about Søren Kierkegaard's authorship will interest the contemporary reader, just as it is our hope that the book's pictures and their often full texts give the reader a deeper and richer reading experience than if only the naked text.
