PRESS RELEASE

NEW BOOK. Thoughtful theatrical philosophical essays on portraying drunkenness, seduction - and motherhood

The book contains four theatrical philosophical essays about four of the Golden Age's most beloved actors, namely - as it appears from the front page of the book - a woman and three men: Anna Nielsen, Joachim Ludvig Phister, Christen Niemann Rosenkilde and Jørgen Christian Hansen. In the four theatrical philosophical essays, Søren Kierkegaard philosophizes about the four actors' abilities to portray a mature woman, portray a branded person and portray a seducer, respectively.

In Søren Kierkegaard's essay on the actress Anna Nielsen, he praises her ability to portray the mature woman. The actor Joachim Ludvig Phister praises him for his ability to portray a branded in a song piece. Drunk is also the theme of Kierkegaard's essay on the actor Christen Niemann Rosenkilde, which he praises for his ability to portray being drunk. In the last of the four essays, Kierkegaard praises the opera singer, baritone Jørgen Christian Hansen for his ability to interpret the lyrics to the peasant girl Zerlina's meeting with him in the role of the seducer Don Juan in Mozart's opera "Don Giovanni".

Søren Kierkegaard's four theatrical philosophical essays have been textually changed to modern Danish by author and philosopher, mag.art. Jens Staubrand, who has also selected the book's pictures and written the comments to them. It is the publisher's hope that the book's pictures and their texts give the reader a richer experience than if one had only the bare text.
